General Notes on APA Style

- APA requires that the entire paper be double-spaced, including all the lines in the Reference List. For graduate theses, however, see APA manual, paragraph 6.01.
- Number all pages consecutively, beginning with the title page, in arabic numerals in the upper right-hand corner (5.06).
- You need to cite and document any sources that you have consulted, even if you presented the ideas from these sources in your own words. You need to cite:
  - to identify other people's ideas and information used within your essay
  - to inform the reader of your paper where they should look if they want to find the same sources
- A citation must appear in two places in your essay:
  - in the body of your text ('in-text citations')
  - in the Reference List (at the end of your paper)
- To introduce other people's ideas in text, use the following examples:
- Richardson argues, refers to, explains, hypothesizes, compares, concludes;
- As Littlewood and Sherwin demonstrated, proved, ... etc.
- Spelling. Merriam-Webster's Collegiate Dictionary is the standard spelling reference for APA journals and books (Rule 3.10)

Reference in Text

- Capitalize all major words in titles of books and articles within the body of the paper (Rule 3.13). E.g.
  - In his book, Greek Political Thought (2006), Balot argues that [...]
  - The criticism of the article "The Politics of Paraliterary Criticism" [...]
  - NOTE: In Reference Lists, however, capitalize only the first word of the title and of the subtitle (after a colon) and proper nouns.
- When quoting from print sources or online articles, give the author, year, and page number in parentheses (Rules 3.34, 3.39). For example:
  - Mooney (2000) found that ... "direct_quotation" (p. 276).
  - "Direct_quotation"... (Walker, 2000, p. 135).
- If the quotation is over 40 words, you must start the quotation on a new line, indent the quotation 5 spaces, and omit the quotation marks.
  - Prince Edward Island is a curved slice of land from three to thirty-five miles wide and about one hundred and twenty miles long, lying along the southern rim of the Gulf of St. Lawrence and separated from the mainland of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia by the narrow waters of Northumberland Strait (Ives, 1999, p. 1).

- When paraphrasing from a source, or when referring to an idea contained in another work, you are not required to provide a page number. (Rule 3.39, p. 121)]
- Many electronic sources do not provide page numbers. In this case, if you are using a direct quote, use paragraph numbers preceded by the paragraph symbol ¶ or the abbreviation 'para.' (Rule 3.39, p. 120).
  - (Johnson, 2003, ¶ 5)
  - (Johnson, 2003, para. 5)
- If there is no date of publication, use the abbreviation (n.d.).
- List two or more works by different authors who are cited within the same parentheses in alphabetical order by the first author's surname, (Rule 3.99). E.g. (Anderson, 1980; Fowers & Powell, 1993; Simonetti, 1998)

Reference List

- The list of sources at the end of the paper (bibliography) is called the Reference List in APA. The reference list must include all references cited in the text of your paper.
- Order of references in the reference list is alphabetical, by the last name of the first author (Rule 4.04) or, if author is not available - by title.
- Alphabetize letter by letter. "Nothing precedes something". 'Brown, J. R.' comes before 'Browning, A. F.'
- For the author's first name use only initials: 'Smith, J.', not 'Smith, Jennifer'.
- Second and subsequent lines of each entry are indented 5-7 spaces.
- Double-space between all lines of your work, including references. (For graduate theses, see APA manual, paragraph 6.01).
- Capitalize only the first word of the title and of the subtitle (i.e. the first word after a colon or a dash) and proper nouns (3.13).
- If more than one city of publication is listed in the book you are citing, use the first one listed.
- If there is no date of publication, use the abbreviation (n.d.).
- See sections 4.03 to 4.15 of the APA Publication Manual for more information on the preparation of the reference list.

How to cite...

Custom Courseware
Comments	Custom Courseware packages are compilations of journal articles, book chapters and other materials selected by your instructor. The APA manual does not give specific advice about citing these materials, so you will have to use your judgment and come up with your own solution. If you need to cite a source from a Custom Courseware package, here are two suggestions. However, our strong recommendation is to first check with your instructor. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Find the full citation where the article, chapter, etc. was originally published, and cite accordingly. The full citations may be included on the first page of the coursepack. If not, search a relevant database or the library catalogue, or ask a librarian.</li> <li>2. Treat the Courseware package as an anthology, and the instructor who did the compilation as a book editor/compiler. Therefore, treat the article, chapter, etc. as if it was part of an anthology, or edited book. Most probably you will not have the page numbers, since the Custom Courseware is not a true publication and is not paginated throughout. You will also have to include the name of the compiler, the title of the Courseware, the name of the course (e.g. CMNS 210), the semester (e.g. Spring 2006) and the publisher (Simon Fraser University). Bear in mind that someone trying to find the article/chapter from a coursepack you cited might not have access to the same coursepack.</li> </ol>

Using RefWorks

- Depending on how you have written your sentence or paragraph, you may need to override the normal in-text or parenthetical citation style for APA (author date).
- RefWorks will allow you to use “switches” to alter your parenthetical or in-text citation.

/f Following text. Use this switch to place text at the end of a specific reference citation. Use this switch to add page numbers after the author and year information if you are using a direct quote or need to cite a specific page or paragraph. Your citation would look like this: {{1 Smith 2003/f p. 43}}. After formatting it would be, (Smith 2003 p. 43).

/y Suppress the year field. This switch is used to hide the year field of a specific reference. Your citation should look like this: {{1 Smith 2003/y}}. After formatting it would be: (Smith).

/a Suppress the author field. This switch is used to hide the Primary Author field for a specific reference. Your citation should look like this: {{1 Smith 2003/a}}. After formatting it would be, (2003).

- See RefWorks documentation for full details on “switches”:
